One coach was stuck at $7K to $14K a month.
Then he made $56,100 in 32 days.

Same closer. Same script.

He only sent calendar reminders, and he called every lead himself.

People who booked had nothing to watch, read, or trust before the call.

We built a confirmation page with short videos that answer the questions he got on every sales call.

Then we added a nurture window of emails, texts, and videos between the booking and the call.

His show rate went from 57% to 79%. His close rate went from 18% to 27%.

Nothing about the closer changed. People just arrived with more trust.

The first month went to fixing the funnel. The $1,200 in ad spend came after.

That result isn’t typical. What repeats is the order: find the bottleneck, fix it, then spend.
