An agency owner was stuck at $20K to $30K a month.

She was sure her sales team was the problem.

She kept hiring, firing, and rewriting scripts.

But the team was working hard on unqualified leads, and nothing nurtured people between the booking and the call.

If you keep fixing the same part and nothing moves, it’s probably not that part.

Step back. Gather the data. Go after the problem with the most leverage.
